The Croc's Promise

As a Rugby League Club of this size we have many players, many volunteers and therefore an enormous quantity of parents and supporters who love to get out each Sunday and watch their child play Rugby League.

We play in one of the toughest competitions in New South Wales and are bound by a Code of Conduct that applies to every player, volunteer and also supporter for ALL CLUBS. It is very important that everyone READS and UNDERSTANDS the Code of Conduct. It will be given to every player this year and also can be downloaded from our website – www.clovellycrocodiles.com.au

In previous years we have had too many breaches and we would like this to stop. This cost the Club in payment of fines – money which as most of you know we would rather spend on the kids!

This year we are asking every volunteer and parent to sign this "CROC'S PROMISE" which will ask people to commit to reading the Code of Conduct and understand that if there are any breaches this year the offender might be liable for the fine. NOT THE CLUB.

There are proper channels to go through if you have problems. Don't take the law into your own hands. Talk to any committee member on hand after the game, or if they are serious concerns, please report them to your manager and he or she can put them in writing. This allows us as a club to make a formal complaint to Souths, as I can guarantee you shouting disapproval from the sideline will get you nowhere.

The Code of Conduct is there to protect YOUR child and ALL the kids playing Rugby League. So please take time to read the Code of Conduct, sign the "CROC'S PROMISE" which will show the committee you acknowledge and understand your responsibilities when you go out as part of this great club – The Clovelly Crocodiles.

Yours in Sport,
Eugene Sangster – President
